Monday, 01 September 2008

SNOWBRAINER.co.uk have just posted that easyjet have announced three new routes from the UK to Europe, just in time for the 08/09 Ski and Snowboard Season.

The new services include London Gatwick to Basel, Manchester to Geneva, and London Gatwick to Helsinki. All three routes will cost less than Â£30 one way (including tax), and are available from easyjet.com

Gatwick to Basel, which starts on the 27th of October, will offer skiers and snowboarders access to many of Switzerland's popular resorts. Resorts in Portes du Soleil, Chamonix & Megeve, the Central Swiss Alps, and the Western Swiss Alps & Cervinia are nearby, and transfers are available to additional ski resorts in the Austrian Alps and the Livingo and Bormio region.
