

Maverix Podcast 33 - The Future of Snowboarding

Saturday, 12 April 2008

It just goes to show that when you have the resources and the opportunity to get on snow at an early age you can accomplish great things

Maverix Snowboard Productions spent a couple of days with a crew of east coast rippers to see what they could do. We were not disappointed. The team was Kyle Mack (10yrs) with his brother Darren (6 yrs), Jacob Aaronsen (12 yrs), his sister Shana (10 yrs) and Jack Herald (11 yrs).

These guys truly know how to ride with 7's being the flavour of the sessions. Already these kids have picked up sponsors like Burton, Anon, Oakley and Rome Snowboards. We cannot wait to see where these kids take it.Â

www.maverix.co.uk/podcasts

www.maverix.co.uk

Also in this podcast we bring you the teaser for the new Maverix Snow Camp that will be running three one-week sessions from late June on the glacier in Les Deux Alpes, France. Come out and ride next seasons gear from Burton, Ride, K2, Salomon and Omatic snowboards and gain some professional free-ride and freestyle coaching from our certified coaches. Numbers are limited so personal coaching is the order of the day. Book your spot before someone else does.

www.maverix.org/podcasts

www.maverix.org