

An interview with two-time Olympic gold medalist Shaun White

Monday, 15 March 2010

Catching up with him on a visit to Salzburg as he discusses winning Olympic gold for the second time.

Shaun also talks about refining tricks on Silverton Mountain, Colorado where redbull built him a personal halfpipe out of virgin snow.

It was here that Shaun would invent a series of new tricks that would change the sport forever - codenamed 'Project X' (clip also below)
