

Keep warm this winter for a very Helly Christmas

Thursday, 22 October 2009

If you're feeling unsure about what to buy your family and friends this Christmas, then Helly Hansen has the answer with its ultimate range of stocking fillers. From fashionable beanies to great looking base layers, Helly Hansen has something to make sure everyone will be feeling warm and cosy!

Â

All adventure sport enthusiasts understand the importance of keeping dry, warm and comfortable for optimum performance through the winter months. This year Helly Hansen's Freeze ½ Zip base layer will be essential for any winter kit bag. Part of the HH Warm collection, the Freeze ½ Zip acts as a warm second skin to the body.

HH Warm base layers are the natural choice for anyone who wants to stay warm in cold conditions. All HH Warm base layers feature two different components - the inner LIFA fibres ensure dryness in all conditions, and soft Merino wool on the outside adds warmth and comfort.

Â

Â

Helly Hansen invented the original baselayer in the 1970s, and the Freeze ½ Zip continues where the original left off. Featuring a fashionable print in a range of stylish colourways, it looks good enough to wear on or off the shore, alone or as part of a layering system.

Available for men and women the Freeze ½ zip is available in sizes XS-XXL and costs £50.

Helly Hansen's range of beanies are an essential present for those wanting to look cool whilst keeping warm. The Ice Crystal Beanie is a fashionable feminine beanie featuring a stylish snowflake print. It costs £15 and comes in light pink and ice cube.

For men, the Ekolab Reversible Beanie is part of the popular Ekolab range from Helly Hansen. Made from 100% recycled polyester it's kinder on the environment and features a stylish reversible design for double the use. It comes in lavender grey green and Walnut. Costs £20.

This season, Helly Hansen has expanded its professional Odin range with the introduction of its Odin Wool Beanie, made from 100% Merino wool to keep the head warm in extreme conditions. Available in black and red to match the existing Odin gear, it costs £20.
